

Introduction

This Tully sale marks a further important step in the development of beef cattle breeding in Ireland. We are in the middle of introducing a totally new system for evaluating the breeding potential of every beef animal, regardless of breed, to provide profits. This new system is designed to make use of all available calving, weighting, feed intake, linear score and carcass data on both pedigree and commercial cattle to predict the genetic capability of every one of the Tully tested bulls. This means that the new index values for the bulls in this catalogue is determined by a combination of the his own performance and the performance of all his known relatives.

ction of any new system the change over period can be quite confusing. We are still refining the new system and these refinements are not yet complete. What you have in this catalogue for the new indexes is the best we can do right now and is a substantial improvement on the systems it has replaced. In this catalogue are the results of a number of improvements made since the March 2006 sale. However, our research team are still very active and further refinements can be expected over the next few months.

Please take time to study the new indexes and to make sure you understand what they mean and how you can use them to help with your breeding decisions. If you see anything that does not make sense to you please discuss it with one of the ICBF team. We will investigate and, if need be, make the necessary corrections.

The indexes in this catalogue were computed on 26th April using the data and methods relevant at that time. In the near future, we expect to obtain more data and to refine our methods with the consequence that the indexes may change for individual bulls.

Buyers should take particular note that for all of the bulls tested at Tully the reliability of the indexes is low as can be seen from the figures provided. This means that as more information become available the indexes are equally likely to increase or decrease. Only when the bulls are progeny tested on large numbers of progeny will the reliability increase to near 100%.

I would like to wish breeders and buyers alike a very successful sale.

Central Performance Testing

Central performance testing is organised by I C B F, the Irish Cattle Breeding Federation. It is carried out at the Bull Testing Centre at Kildare.

The testing involves exposing selected beef bulls from a number of breeds, ranging in age from 9 to 12 months, to uniform feeding, housing and management conditions. The aim being to establish the genetic potential of particular bulls (namely genetically superior bulls), in terms of feed conversion efficiency and growth efficiency. Central performance testing enables more accurate estimates of breeding values of potential breeding bulls to be obtained at an early stage in contrast to an on-farm or progeny test.

The information obtained during performance testing is combined with various data including: weaning weight and calf value from the livestock marts, linear type classification from pedigree beef herds, carcass weight, carcass fat and carcass conformation data from the factories, as well as pedigree ancestry information stored on the ICBF database (shown in table below). The combination of these results allows a genetic profile of all animals with records and related animals to be computed. The genetic profile is represented in the form of Economic Breeding Indexes (EBI).

Economic Breeding Indexes (EBI)

Background

The Economic Breeding Index for beef cattle recently developed by ICBF reflects how much PROFIT (€) a farmer can expect to realise by making a breeding decision (purchasing a particular bull for a certain desired use). EBI figures are given for beef production, weaned calf, beef calving, and dairy calving. They represent the bulls' ability to produce progeny for a particular use (BPSI, WCSI) and also the ability of a bull to reduce the cost associated with calving loss and survival (BCSI, DCSI). They are designed to help farmers increase returns from cattle breeding with the use of available data on all beef animals in the cattle-breeding database. The data comes from a variety of sources:

Data Source

- 1. Calving Performance Data Animal Events*
- 2. Linear Score data Linear Scorers*
- 3. Weaning Weight and Calf Value Livestock marts and Linear*

Welcome to Tully Bull Performance Test Centre

Pedigree Bull Sale

This is the sixth sale at Tully since it was taken over from the Department of Agriculture and Food in July 2002, by the Irish Cattle Breeding Federation.

ICBF are very pleased to offer this group of bulls on behalf of their owners. A lot of time and effort has gone into bringing this group of bulls to where they are today and we would like to thank breeders for putting their bulls forward for testing and also the breed societies for helping to select this group of bulls.

We would also like to thank FBD Trust for their generous sponsorship again this year.

Thank you for coming to our sale and we wish all prospective buyers the very best of luck with their purchases.

We in ICBF look forward with great determination and confidence to the future years ahead at Tully, and strive to ensure that the test station becomes one of the focal points of the Irish beef production industry.

Yours sincerely

Michael Barron

YOU'VE PURCHASED A NEW BULL!

Some basic sound advice

It is strongly advised that you insure your new bull for all possible risks for the first year. A young bull will tend to be much more prone to accident and injury in his first year of service than in subsequent years. Remember that insurance companies will only take on such risks on the day of sale, and FBD representatives will be present on the sale day to give you the opportunity to secure your bulls' future.

With regard to feeding it is very important to remember that your new bull may have been fed up to 12 kilograms of concentrate (16.5% protein) a day. While this level has been reduced to around 6 kilograms a day in the week leading up to the sale care needs to be taken when the diet is to be changed. Animals have been fed on Southern Milling Beef Pellets and it may be beneficial to incorporate some of this beef pellet with the new meal, allowing the animal to slowly become accustomed to the new diet.

When you bring the bull home remember he will be entering into a strange place. If at all possible unload him directly into the presence of new companions. This will help him become used to the new environment. It is unwise to put him in a dark shed all on his own.
